Praise ye the LORD. O give thanks unto the LORD; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.
Apply thine heart unto instruction, and thine ears to the words of knowledge.
What doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?
For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.
Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.
By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.
And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible.
Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord.
And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness.
Godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.
For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise.
But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.

Remember that, “if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Peter 1: 8).
